

Hello,

Thank you for tuning into the CASCW podcast channel. My name is Denise McKizzie Cooper, and I'm the Outreach Coordinator at the Center for Advanced Studies in Child Welfare. We are excited to share our latest series with you. The series will be titled the Core Series and it will feature a variety of people and perspectives. The Core Series includes the latest research along with practice implications from our faculty partners. This series also features other university and community perspectives on all things, child welfare, make sure to subscribe to our channel for future episodes. Be safe and be well.